ANYTHING.

Our printer has just called for a short editorial. We asked him for a subject, he answered "anything." Therefore, "we," always anxious to please, will endeavor to define briefly "anything," and in its definition the reader will behold the true character of a man who has once stood at the head of the American Nation, placed there by the net of murder.

Anything, is an essential non-essential, always unnecessary—necessary, is of the mundane and superfluous sphere, yet when joined to something produces a power that can be felt if not seen, and if unseen, its effects, may produce sounds which can be heard; free, yet always in bonds; has a terrible looseness, yet always "tight," sweet, yet bitter as the waters of Mirabai; beautiful as the thistle when compared to the rose; pure as a frog-pond in its balmy days; quiet in his way, yet always in a bustle; bought with a price, yet "priceless," always in a hurry, yet never hurried; has no particular shape or form; yet is in every conceivable form; he is both high and low; not always drunk or sober; his eyes "not blue" but little "reddy;" his hair "not grey," yet never grown so; his character unimpeachable because impeached; became a recluse after standing at the head of the American Nation. Who was it?

THE GROWTH OF NEW TOWNS.

Two things contribute more than all others to the building up of new towns in California, viz: railroads and newspapers. The first of these furnish cheap and rapid facilities for transportation, especially in the farming and fruit regions; and the latter in making known to the outside world the productiveness of their respective localities. In proof of this we might note a number of towns which have arisen, as it were by magic, in various parts of the State but by way of example we will allude to but one—the town of Winters, in Yolo county. A few days over a year ago a field of wheat was harvested in Yolo county, on the banks of the Putah creek, and immediately thereafter town lots were staked off, building commenced, and in six months a town containing over 100 houses and over 500 inhabitants, with the inevitable American adjuncts of school, church and business houses, occupied the site of that wheat field, and since then the town has been growing and promises in a year or so to become one of the largest towns in Yolo or the surrounding counties. Situated as it is in a rich farming and fruit region, and surrounded by some of the richest valleys in the State, its future is assured beyond cavil. Now how has this change been effected? Theodore Winters, who resides on the Solano side of Putah creek, opposite the town, and well known throughout this State and Nevada as a capitalist and breeder of fast horses, owned a tract of land including that on which the town of Winters now stands. A broad gauge railroad, owned by private individuals, known as the Yaca Valley Railroad, tapped the California Pacific at Vacaville. Winters knowing the value of railroad communication, offered the railroad company 40 acres of land on which to start a town, and in addition a large sum of money wherewith to build a railroad across the creek, provided they "would extend their road to that spot. Other parties stepped in and furnished additional means, and the result was the building of Winters. The Grangers were the first to take advantage of the location, by erecting a warehouse capable of storing 50,000 tons of wheat, (20,000 tons were shipped from it last season.) Large business houses, with agencies of the large agricultural implements establishments of Sacramento, mechanical trades, first class hotels and the usual number of saloons are now kept busy in the town, and three trains are dispatched daily to carry to market produce and return with goods. In addition to this, the trade and shipping of the splendid Berryessa and other valleys are assured by the purchase of a toll road and making it free on one side, and by the continuance of the railroad to Capay valley and other sections on the other side, thus making Winters a shipping point for the enormous fruit and wheat crops these valleys produce. So much for the change a railroad can effect. Almost immediately after the town was started a newspaper was inaugurated, and the town and its surroundings placed before the public in a series of articles. A large number of copies are sent weekly to the Eastern States, and it is found on file in all the hotels in San Francisco, and in consequence attention is being attracted to that locality, and already efforts are being made by men from the Bay and the East to secure the waters of the creek for manufacturing purposes, the erection of a paper mill, grist mill, etc. Two churches have been erected, and arrangements are being made for the erection of two more. The Masons, Odd Fellows, Grangers, Knights of Pythias and Good Templars have Lodges in operation, and the Jockey Club advertise their programme of races in July, over the splendid race-course of Mr. Winters. And all this effected in one year by the extension of the railroad and the establishment of a newspaper, adding hundreds of thousands of dollars to the taxable value of property, saving tens of thousands of dollars yearly to the farmers and fruit-growers in the decreased cost of transportation, and increasing the value of property one hundred per cent.—Sacramento Valley Agriculturist.

CORRESPONDENCE.

WINTERS, JUNE 14, 1876.

DR. NORWOOD—Dear Sir: In the ADVOCATE of June 3rd, I find an Editorial headed "a bad showing." As my name is connected with the subject, I will state in explanation, that, I did not know that you had made any arrangements with Mr. Brock, for the use of the church, or that you were the business agent of Miss Logan. I made enquiry of several persons in Winters during the week, but failed to find any one that knew anything about it, and as there was a gentleman painting on the inside of the house, we did not wish it used and locked the door. I will further state that the house was built for a church, and is not a public hall nor do we wish it to be used as such. I feel no disposition to act rudely or arbitrarily in my intercourse with gentlemen. Hoping the above will be satisfactory, I am,

Yours respectfully,

B. H. RUSSELL.

It occurs to us the most natural place to have inquired who the agent was, would have been at Mr. Brock's who had charge of the church and where he got the keys. (Ed.)

How's this?—A letter passed through our Post Office this week having the following poetical superscription: "Through many a State this letter must go, To Perry, Ralls Co. Missouri you know. And when it gets there, it will be easy to say, That old Bill Decker can take it away."

PRESBYTERIAN CHURCH.—The Cumberland Presbyterian Church is finished and will probably be accepted to-day by the building committee. The dedicatory exercises will take place on the 3rd Sunday in July.

It is not generally known that our efficient Post Master, Mr. Moody, is a cousin of Gov. Hayes of Ohio, the Republican nominee for President.

NOT TO BE OUTDONE.—and must keep pace with the times, Mansfield & Theodore offer a fine stock of Gent's Furnishing Wear, at reduced rates.

God His Attributes and Power.

While we look back into the past and reflect, upon the teachings we have received of a God, his revengeful nature, his enmity to man, his jealous disposition, his local habitation, his heavenly home, where the streets are paved with pure gold, etc. We have often tried to understand, and reconcile those teachings with the attributes of God; such as love, mercy, harmony, justice, purity and perfection. Myriads of questions have we asked with a view of solving the problem; but could never get a satisfactory answer, about the only one we could get was, "it's a mystery, it's so because it is so," it's a mystery of godliness, but will be revealed in due time.

Blind errors of the past have a greater power over a large percent of minds, than the living truths of the present. Ask such minds a simple, practical question and they will regard it as sacrilegious. Ask such minds why the same cause or law will not produce the same effect that it would have done 1800 years ago, and they will tell you the necessity for that effect ceased at a given time, and yet they will in the same breath tell you "God's laws never change." The Scriptures inform us God is love, and love is the fulfilling of the law, yet these same minds will tell us that God is a jealous God and a God of revenge.

The Scribe in answer to Christ's declaration (see Mark 12-32) said, "Thou hast well said, there is one God, and none other." Christ saw that he answered discreetly, and said "Thou art not far from the Kingdom of God." This was a favorite expression of Christ, when he wished to convey the idea that any one was about right, he would say "Thou art not far from the Kingdom of God" or "The Kingdom of Heaven is within you," or "The Kingdom of Heaven is at hand." Taking it for granted that the above declaration is true, that "There is but one God and none other." How will you harmonize it with the following when viewed from the present popular theological stand point, (Exodus, 18th ch. 11th v.) Jethro, Moses' father-in-law, said, "Now I know the Lord is greater than all gods." If there is but one God, and none other, who and where is the Lord that is greater than he? So long as men are taught to believe in a plurality of gods, or that Lord and God are the same entity; just so long there will be mysteries that will never be solved. But to a candid reasoning mind, who is not seeking for mystery but for the "real truth," those passages become plain and are easily reconciled. It will be observed by reading from the 7th to the 11th verse of the 18th ch. of Exodus, that the Lord which Jethro put so much faith in as possessing such mighty power, was the same Lord which followed Moses, counselled him in every instance where Moses was at a loss to know how to proceed this Lord would help him out of it. The same Lord made Moses a God, because he (the Lord) got mad at Moses, (see 4th ch. of Exodus, 14th to 17th vs.) Moses was the kind of God that Jethro referred to when he said "the Lord is greater than all gods," and why? because the Lord which Jethro referred to was unknown to him, consequently was a mystery and the greater a mystery can be made to appear the greater power it has over weak vacillating minds, and mystery of godliness is the result. Jethro knew by Moses' own story that "the Lord had made Moses a god, but he was too well acquainted with him to believe that such gods amounted to anything, hence the exclamation, the mysterious Lord is greater than all such gods. This Lord which was so mysterious and powerful, was the same Lord that Moses made get down upon his marrow-bones and "repent" because he, (the Lord) had let his wrath wax hot against the people which was under Moses' charge. Old Moses served him right, for the Lord showed a very "low finite mind" to get offended at such a trifling cause. Supposing this mysterious Lord got hot at every "golden calf" and their worshippers of to-day? Wouldn't it be "hot" work for him to get mad and repent for every "golden calf" and be able to get around in the cool of the day? Maybe that is what makes it so hot, thermometer 110.

ROCK SOAP.

ROCK SOAP is a natural product, possessing most marvelous cleansing and cosmetic properties. Besides other saponeaceous substances it contains Alumina, which is more powerfully detergent than most Alkaline Soaps. Rock Soap is recommended by analysts to have detergent properties valuable to an entire degree for the purposes for which it is recommended, and to contain nothing injurious for such use. After using it no one will be without it. It is perfectly marvelous in its operation.

For Household Purposes.—It cleans kitchen utensils, glass, and tinware; polishes gold and silver; removes oil and grease from tables and floors. It is a great saving of time and labor.

For Toilet and Bath.—Rock Soap possesses remarkable cosmetic properties, without any deleterious effect upon the skin. It is perfectly harmless, and gives a vigorous and healthful tone to the skin; it restores the freshness and bloom of youth in a manner which is marvelous. It is put up with a brilliant label, and is having an immense sale. It sells itself. See quotations.

BREVITIES.—Liquor vault on Main street nearly done. . . . We can boast of a fancy bar-tender. . . . Somebody ought to come and get shaved, our barbers are uneasy when not at work. . . . Our vegetable store is well filled—meat market ditto. . . . Saloons complain of hard times. . . . Chandler receiving almost daily car-loads of fine lumber in prime order for building. His clerks, "ever gracious," ready to wait upon his customers. Don't forget the place, north side of the railroad track. . . . Mansfield thinks of chartering a few Chinamen to fan his clerks; they complain of being over-worked. . . . Stevenson is watching through a spy-glass along the proposed route for his road; the surveyors with their chair in hand ready at a moment's call. Soon the toot of the whistle will be sounded at Langville. It is to be hoped, however, that it won't have the same effect that Joshua's toot did upon Jerico. . . . Abbey says the Almighty dollar will kill him yet. They work there night and day. Sunday and week day. . . . Talk of big tanks and windmills, when it takes two weeks to put up one wing to the mill. . . . Where is the Parker House sign with the velvet background? . . . A large sign crowns the old Taylor House which reads "Occidental Hotel." . . . Last Sunday no fights in Winters. Good! we are progressing. . . . Young Wolfkill got his face blistered helping to put out the fire in Blum's. . . . Sim says he wouldn't stick his nose into it if he had thought it had been so hot. Didn't discover his mistake until he went to wash his face. . . . Our saddler, Humphrey, is off for San Francisco for more leather. He says these mule harnesses are terrible on leather, for he puts nothing but good leather into them. . . . Stanton House, crowded to its fullest capacity. . . . Wilson's Bakery has got an ice cream department; lots of people go there during hot weather. Go in and cool off, boys and girls. . . . Bro. Moody's office, as postmaster has increased since the advent of the Advocate 500 percent. . . . More splendid peaches from the Briggs' ranch. They are shipping almost daily. . . . Crowds of wheat teams surround our warehouse. . . . Weather from 60 to 85; just good for what ails us.

SHARP.—A good joke was perpetrated upon one of the Celestials in Sacramento the other day. Our friend Jo. being an eye witness to the scene. One of the street cars going out to East Park, being well filled, two seats only being empty, the car stopped upon the crossing for other passengers to enter. First stepped in was a Celestial; then came a gentleman and lady, and lastly a lady of color and her daughter. The Celestial of course occupied one of the seats; this colored lady and her daughter and the gentleman had to stand up. Our informant said the colored lady stepped up to the Celestial, took him by the collar, raising him from his seat exclaiming, "see here you jist git up and give white folks a seat." It is needless to say there was fun for a few moments.

If you want to buy perfect fitting clothes, shirts and underwear cheap, Blum's is the place.

LIST CHANGE.—I shall remove my Photograph Gallery from Winters on the 1st of July. Parties wanting good work, well done, can now have an opportunity which will not again be offered. Copying of old and faded pictures a specialty, at reasonable prices. Samples of work may be seen at the gallery. Remember that I do not return to Winters after this trip. No work done on the 1st. Last call and gone.

J. W. KING, Artist.

FIRE.—About 2 o'clock Monday afternoon, a fire caught in Baker Bros. wheat field, about two miles from town, and in a short time laid waste about forty acres of fine wheat. The fire caught from an engine owned by Dan Kiddle who was threshing for them. It was put out by the combined efforts of three hundred men working like Trojans. The loss is between $700 and $1,000.

If you want to buy good Goods cheap, go to Blum & Co's. They have the largest stock of Goods this side of San Francisco.

IMPROVEMENTS IN AND AROUND WINTERS.—Mr. C. Baker, a farmer living about two miles North East of Winters is about to commence building a fine residence.

You can find anything you want at Blum & Co's from a needle to a Threshing Machine at bed-rock prices.

A WOMAN'S LOVE.

BY JOHN HAT.

A celestial angel sitting high in glory
Heard this shawl ring out from purgatory:
"Have mercy, mighty angels, hear my story!"
I loved, and blind with passionate love, I fell,
Love brought me down to death, and death to hell,
For God is just, and death for sin is well.
I do not rage because His high degree,
Nor for myself do ask that grace shall be;
But for my love on earth who mourns for me.

Great Spirit! Let me see my love again,
And comfort him one hour, and I were fain
To pay a thousand years of fire and pain!"
Then said the pitying angel, "Nay, repent
Thou wilt woe! Look, the dial-finger's bent
Down to the last hour of thy punishment!"
But still she waited, "I pray thee, let me go!"
I cannot rise to peace and leave him so,
O, let me soothe him in his bitter woe!"
The brazen gates ground suddenly ajar,
And upward, joyous, like a rising star,
She rose and vanished in the ether far.

But soon around the dying angel sailing,
And like a wounded bird her plumes trailing,
She flattered back with broken-hearted wailing,
She sobbed, "I found him by the Summer sea,
Reclining his head upon a maiden's knee—
She curled his hair and kissed him. Woe is me!"
She wept "now let my punishment begin!
I have been fond and foolish. Let me in
To expiate my sorrow and my sin."

The angel answered, "Nay, sad soul, go higher!
To be devoted in your true heart's desire
Was better than a thousand years of fire!"

How is it?—Where are our Bankers? Why are they not at work? The wheat crop is already beginning to come in and this is the very time we need the bank. Hundreds, yes, thousands of dollars might be made this season here in Winters, which for the want of such an institution, must now be lost and the business done elsewhere. We regret that steps had not been taken earlier in this direction, and this reminds us of the promises made this Spring in regard to a grist mill, a paper mill, etc. Where are they? Come gentlemen you have been talking sometime, now begin to tap your cider barrel. There is one thing more that must be attended to, and that immediately, or the expense of obtaining that necessity will be quadrupled. It will be remembered that we haven't a single public road leading into, or out of Winters, the roads are complete to us, then the people are at the mercy of gates and bars, and many a beautiful evening from those who own the lands where the roads ought to be. It is certainly a disgrace to the town, and should be remedied immediately. We see no good reason why it cannot be accomplished now, as well as a year hence. The many nuisances that have cursed our town from its incipency should be removed—we are glad that even one has disappeared (that toll-road) and now for arid and open the other roads.

A MEAN TRICK.—Mr. Cannada, a ranchman, came in town the other evening and telegraphed to the "Emigrant Bureau," at San Francisco, to send up 20 hands for harvest, that they could get employment here; 14 came, their cards costing $8.50 each. On their arrival, two or three had a chance to work, but refused because they considered themselves engaged to Cannada. Some of them walked out to Cannada's, 7 miles, to learn that he didn't want any of them. The men are now at Mr. Stanton's without work, together with 6 more who came up last Wednesday night. Now gentlemen, you who have been complaining about help as an excuse for hiring Chinamen, secure your hands. Those who will do such a trick ought to be made to pay these men for their time and expenses here and back.

SIX NEW DWELLINGS.—We are informed by Mr. London, that Mr. Bottorff, of Berryessa, will shortly commence building six cottage houses for rent. This is something we need here, for there is not an empty dwelling house in town, and as the population is increasing, more dwellings are needed. We think it a safe investment for capitalists to buy some of our lots and put up dwelling houses. Cheap rent and no idle houses is a good motto. Will somebody follow Mr. Bottorff in this enterprise.

TAKE NOTICE.—The members of of Dancoles Lodge, No. 23, K. of P., will please bear in mind that they are wanted at the regular meeting to be held June 29th.

SITUATION WANTED.—The editor of this paper, wants a job driving a header wagon. Satisfaction guaranteed or no pay.

NEW AWNING.—Harding, Lowry & Co. have just completed building an awning between their store and Terrill & Co's.

FRUIT JARS.

THE PRESERVING OF FRUITS BY Thermically sealing in glass jars has increased rapidly in popularity in our own years, so that to provide a store of fruit and vegetables in their natural condition, for winter use, is becoming not only a necessity, but is a provident measure, alike conducive to health and pleasure.

THE GEM AND PORCELAIN LINED JARS Possess all the advantages and none of the disadvantages of other patent jars, and are in fact the only reliable self-sealing jars in market. Each makes its joint on the flat shoulder, blown in the glass, on the outside of the mouth of the jar, below the neck. The surface of the shoulder on which the joint is made is perfectly smooth. The rubber being outside, and below the top of the jar, the syrup cannot be exposed to it, to taint and discolor it; at the same time its shoulder, blown in the mould, on which the rubber rests, corresponds with the thread on which the screw fastenings work, so that it insures equal pressure on all parts of the cap and rubber ring, thereby insuring a tight joint. These jars have arrived so near perfection, there is no hesitation in warranting every jar to preserve fruit an indefinite space of time, if care is taken.

A close-up photograph of a dark, cylindrical object, possibly a barrel or drum, showing the text "MASON'S PATENT" and "NOV 30 1888" stamped on its surface. The object is positioned vertically and occupies the right side of the frame. The background is a light-colored, textured surface, possibly a wall or floor, with some faint lines and shadows.

THE GROOVE KING.

This jar has a groove in the top of ring in which a tin cap is placed, after which the wax is poured into the groove, thus making an hermetic seal. This is a very reliable and cheap jar, costing about one-third less than the patent jar.

The testimony of physicians, added to the experience of many, corroborate the belief that the fruits preserved in the cans are very unwholesome.

J. C. WILSON, SAN FRANCISCO, CAL.

Feb. 25th, 1891

MESSRS. WILLIAMS & CO.:
Gentlemen—It is with the greatest pleasure
I endorse your YERBA BUENA BITTERS. I have never in the whole course of my life found such instant and permanent relief as I have found in the use of your most invaluable compound. I have been subjected to costiveness and a torpid liver
for five years, of which I am now entirely cured,
using only two bottles of your YERBA BUENA BITTERS. I am certain that it was YERBA BUENA that came of the palpitation of the heart. I am, gentlemen, most happy to state that through the use of your BITTERS I am to-day a well man. For you may reside: 370 Leidesdorff street, San Francisco. JOHN R. STEELE
